

RYAN'S WEDDING BIG SURPRISE TO CAPITAL FRIENDS

Washington friends of Thomas Fortune Ryan, the financier, received with interest and great surprise today news of his marriage yesterday in Charlottesville, Va., to Mrs. Cornelius Cuyler, of New York. They were married in the winter chapel of the Catholic Church of the Holy Comforter by the Rev. Thomas A. Rankin, Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia, and Mrs. Alderman were witnesses.

That the utmost secrecy surrounded the marriage was indicated in dispatches received in Washington today. Neither Dr. Alderman nor Father Rankin would make any statement other than to admit that the marriage had taken place.

Bridal Party in Auto.
From other sources information was obtained that Mr. Ryan and Mrs. Cuyler drove to Charlottesville by automobile from Oak Ridge, the bridegroom's country estate in Nelson county. They are said to have come unannounced and to have driven directly to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Alderman whom they asked to accompany them to the chapel.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Ryan are believed to have returned to Oak Ridge.

The first wife of Mr. Ryan died at midnight, October 17, at her country home at Suffern, New York, after being taken suddenly ill at noon on that day. The first Mrs. Ryan was Miss Ida M. Barry, of Baltimore.

She was married to Mr. Ryan on November 23, 1912, and was widely known for her charitable work. She was the donor of Ryan Hall to Georgetown University and gave liberally to other Catholic institutions throughout the country.

U. S. TO FEED PRISONERS CAPTURED BY GERMANY

American soldiers and sailors who may be taken prisoners of war will be properly clothed and fed.

The food will be conveyed to the prisoners through the agency of the Red Cross. Appropriation of $31,219 to buy seventy-five tons of food for 100 prisoners now at German camps was announced by the Red Cross yesterday. This will last them one year. The food will be sent to the Red Cross warehouse at Bern, Switzerland, where twenty-five tons have been sent up to this time. It will be dispatched from Bern by the American legation in standard containers every two weeks, three ten-pound packages going to each prisoner.

Chastised Pacifist Says He Forgives; Is Now for Preparedness

CINCINNATI, Oct. 30.—While Herbert S. Bigelow, pacifist and socialist was under the influence of opiate in a hospital today, his attorneys gave out a statement in which the man who was horse-whipped by a masked band in Kentucky Sunday night, forgave his assailants. It follows:

"I too, am near the verge of the gospel of preparedness, but still I am not wholly lost. I would not retaliate in kind if I could. I have no revenge; I forgive."

CITY NEAR DRY ONE DAY BEFORE LAW TAKES HOLD

"The king is dead," meaning John Barleycorn, and Washingtonians, some sad, some glad, are preparing to observe ceremonies attendant upon his death at the hands of Congress with a Halloween party that will make all previous efforts at celebration seem tame.

But—and a great big word it is in this case—they may find nothing to celebrate with; that is, unless they have a stock within their own homes, for most of the bars were closing today and but few were to remain open until evening.

The hotels, where generally are staged the most brilliant celebrations of New Year eve variety, as far as wines and liquors go, will be quite dry tomorrow night, and many of the clubs will be in the same fix.

Hotels Close Their Bars.
The Shortland Hotel closed its bar Saturday and the managers have announced that wines and liquors will be absolutely not to be had Wednesday night.

day night, despite the fact that the usual Halloween decorations are being put up and that a number of dinner party reservations have been made.

The Willard bar will be practically closed by this evening, and if there are any "parties," according to the management, they will be wholly impromptu. The management says that it is trying to put the soft pedal on anything like a policy celebration. The same state of affairs exists at the Raleigh. The hotels are so busy, in fact, trying to take care of their abnormal business, that they are paying but little attention to the passing of Mr. J. Barleycorn.

Drought at Frolic Club.
At the Frolic Club, according to the steward, there is little liquor left in the bar and he doubts if there will be any there Wednesday night. The sale of anything stronger than ginger ale will be a thing of the past after today at the Commercial Club.

A few bars will, of course, remain open to the last minute, but for the most part those that have not already shut the doors in the face of conviviality, will have done so before tomorrow night rolls around.

So after all, the passing of King Barleycorn may not be so exciting in reality as it was in anticipation. Some of his followers are grieving about it, too.

"It looks like the old fellow was just sort of going to flake out, instead of having a real big wake like he deserves," they say.
